IBO's 2010 Schedule Comes to Star-Studded Close

"Always go with your best pitch."

That mantra will be in full effect in the back half of 2010, when the International Boxing Organization marches out its three most premier title-holders – namely Wladimir Klitschko, Chad Dawson and Danny Green – for noteworthy championship defenses in the coming weeks.

Klitschko and Dawson are No. 1 in the heavyweight and light heavyweight divisions, respectively, and Green is a close No. 2 at cruiserweight, according to the computerized IBO Top 100 rankings for the month of July.

The trio headlines a schedule of five IBO title bouts scheduled between now and November.

First on the list is Green, who'll risk his laurels for the third time in a scheduled 12-rounder with fellow Australian resident Paul Briggs on July 21 in Sydney.

Green won his title with a fifth-round TKO of Julio Cesar Dominguez in August 2009 and has been in the ring for just four rounds since while racking up a pair of successful defenses.

He blasted out heavy favorite and former multi-division champion Roy Jones Jr. in just 2 minutes, 2 seconds in an initial fight as IBO champion last December in Sydney, then stopped capable veteran Manny Siaca at 1:55 of round three when they matched up in April in Perth.

Green was the No. 1 200-pounder in the world according to the computerized IBO Top 100 for June, slotting ahead of once-beaten WBO belt-holder Marco Huck as well as Krzysztof Wlodarczyk and Guillermo Jones, who represent the WBC and WBA, respectively.

He's a close second in July, trailing only two-time IBF title-holder Steve Cunningham, who regained his title on June 5 with a disputed TKO defeat of Troy Ross.

The 37-year-old Green is unbeaten in 17 career fights above 168 pounds.

The IBO is the only sanctioning body to recognize Green with a world title.

Meanwhile, Briggs, now 34, will be vying to win his first world championship in his 30th career bout.

The native New Zealander was beaten in a pair of tries for WBC title recognition at 175 pounds, losing majority decisions to Tomasz Adamek in 2005 and 2006.

He beat South African Rupert van Aswegen by a wide unanimous decision in his most recent outing in 2007 and has deemed himself ready for Green with the claim "I am coming to tear his head off" in a recent interview with Australian media.

A second elite IBO champion risks his position a month later at the Bell Centre in Montreal, where Dawson will meet WBC-recognized belt-holder Jean Pascal to determine supremacy at 175 pounds on Aug. 14.

Dawson is ranked first among five major light heavyweight title claimants, while Pascal, a 27-year-old Haitian now fighting out of Canada, is third.

Dawson, who held the WBC title in 2007-08, relinquished it upon defeating incumbent IBO champion Antonio Tarver in the first of their two 12-round meetings in October 2008.

He defended his crown with a second defeat of Tarver seven months later in Las Vegas, and has since successfully risked it against another former IBO champ, Glen Johnson, with a unanimous decision win last November in Hartford, Conn.

Also 27 years old, Dawson is 7-0 in world title fights with two KOs.

Though he's widely regarded as the world's best light heavyweight, Dawson is not recognized as a world champion by any other organization.

Pascal was beaten in a challenge for the WBC title at 168 pounds in 2008 before moving up to defeat Adrian Diaconu for the 175-pound belt in June 2009. He defended with a 10th-round TKO of Silvio Branco three months later, before again defeating Diaconu, again by unanimous decision, last December.

September will mark the return of both the most recognizable IBO champion and one of the most accomplished athletes in the world – the 34-year-old Klitschko.

He will defend against unbeaten Russian Alexander Povetkin, the third-ranked challenger on the IBO computer, on Sept. 18 in Frankfurt, Germany.

Born in Kazakhstan and now a resident of Ukraine, Klitschko won the vacant heavyweight title with a seventh-round stoppage of American Chris Byrd at the SAP Arena in Mannheim, Germany in April 2006.

He's successfully defended the crown eight times since, stopping seven opponents – including ex-WBO title-holder Lamon Brewster, former WBC champion Hasim Rahman and then-reigning WBA champion Ruslan Chagaev.

His most recent fight was March 20 in Dusseldorf, Germany, where he stopped once-beaten challenger Eddie Chambers in the final minute of their scheduled 12-rounder.

The win improved Klitschko is 54-3 with 48 KOs and extended his win streak to 12 since 2004.

Povetkin, 30, has won 19 straight fights with 14 KOs since turning professional after winning super heavyweight gold at the 2004 Olympics.

He last fought on March 13 in Berlin, where he stopped journeyman Javier Mora in five rounds.

Also on the IBO docket for the rest of 2010 is the second defense of welterweight champion Lovemore N'dou, who'll meet unbeaten South African Bongani Mwelase on Sept. 18 at the Emperor's Palace in Kempton Park, South Africa.

N'dou won the vacant 147-pound title with a unanimous 12-round decision over Phillip N'dou in July 2009 and has defended it once, with a 12-round split-decision draw against Matthew Hatton four months later in England.

It is the first world title bout for Mwelase, a 6-foot southpaw with 12 KOs in 14 wins.

Wrapping up the year's schedule is the first title defense for newly-crowned IBO 168-pound champion Isaac Chilemba, who'll face unbeaten former youth champion Thomas Oosthuizen on Nov. 6 at a site to be determined.

The 23-year-old Chilemba, born in Malawi, won the vacant IBO championship on June 19 with a unanimous decision over previously unbeaten Michael Bolling.

It was the 15th win in 16 pro fights for Chilemba, who avenged his lone defeat in 2007 with a points win four months later.

Oosthuizen, nicknamed "Tommy Gun," won the vacant IBO youth crown at 168 pounds with a 10-round decision over Cleber Alves in September 2009.

He last fought on April 27, stopping Mexican veteran Saul Roman in eight rounds.

"Oosthuizen is the best young fighter in South Africa and on the path to being the best super middleweight in the world," said IBO President Ed Levine. "He will need all his talents to defeat Chilemba."
